

Aphasia Support and Communication Group

Aphasia is an impairment that can affect your ability to speak, understand what is said, and your ability to read or write. It can occur from a stroke, head trauma, brain tumors, or infections.

This support group is for persons that have aphasia and supporters. It is a great place for information, motivation, and socialization. We meet twice each month:

- First Friday of each month at NOON, in-person at the John W. Keys Clinic located at 1200 N. Stonewall Ave. Online option available with below link.
- Third Thursday at 6 pm online. You can join by clicking this link:
