

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR, AUDIOLOGY

Full-time, consecutive-term appointment (based on experience and qualifications) 12-month position available immediately at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center (OUHSC) in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Required qualifications include an earned doctorate in audiology (PhD or AuD teaching/clinical supervision experience), eligibility for Oklahoma audiology licensure, the potential for successful didactic teaching, scholarship, and service, and excellent interpersonal and communication skills. Candidates who are ABD with expected completion prior to hire will be considered.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Preferred qualifications include at least one year of experience in the clinical supervision of AuD students, the ability to mentor student research, history of successful application for grant funding, and evidence of engagement in collaborative research. Priority areas of expertise include use of simulation in AuD training, amplification, implantable hearing technology, and/or foundational coursework. The CCC-A is preferred but not required.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

The primary responsibilities of this position include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Teaching didactic courses in the AuD program,
- Developing and supervising simulation activities for clinical training,
- Supervising AuD students in clinical practicum and capstone research projects,
- Conducting research/scholarship in area of expertise, and
- Contributing to university, college, department, and section committees.

Applicants should apply online at:

<http://apply.interfolio.com/164132>

CONTACT:

Deborah Martin
(405) 271-2288

Deborah-martin@ouhsc.edu

COLLEGE OF ALLIED HEALTH
The UNIVERSITY of OKLAHOMA HEALTH SCIENCES

UNIVERSITY AND PROGRAM INFO:

The Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders (CSD) is part of the College of Allied Health on the campus of the OUHSC in Oklahoma City, OK. The department offers the only AuD program in the state of Oklahoma, as well as a Master of Arts degree in speech-language pathology and a pre-professional Bachelor of Science degree.

Continuously accredited by the Council on Academic Accreditation since 1965, Oklahoma's flagship programs in audiology and speech-language pathology offer rigorous training within a comprehensive academic medical system. The CSD Department houses the John W Keys Speech and Hearing Center, which serves as an essential clinical site and opportunity for research for students in the professional degree programs. To learn more about the department, please visit our website at <https://alliedhealth.ouhsc.edu/Departments/Communication-Sciences-and-Disorders>.

The College of Allied Health is one of seven colleges on the OUHSC campus. In addition to the Department of CSD, the College features degree programs in physical therapy, occupational therapy, nutrition and dietetics, and medical imaging professions. Our faculty engage with students in the classroom, research laboratories, and clinical environments in a modern and beautifully furnished building. Our location opened in 2009 and provides up-to-date teaching technology, comfortable study spaces, and prime location on campus within easy walking distance of the David L Boren Student Union, the Robert M Bird Health Sciences Library, Oklahoma Children's Hospital, and more.

There are many opportunities for interprofessional collaboration, teaching, and research on the medical center campus in Oklahoma City. The University of Oklahoma's main campus is located in nearby Norman, OK. To learn more about the OUHSC and the College of Allied Health, please visit our websites at <http://www.ouhsc.edu> and at <https://alliedhealth.ouhsc.edu/>

Oklahoma City (OKC) is a beautiful, friendly, and vibrant metropolitan community (20th largest in the U.S., with a metro area population surpassing 1 million). Located near Dallas, TX, the OKC metro area enjoys a temperate climate, a rich arts and food culture, professional sports, nationally recognized health care, and excellent schools and universities in a thriving economic climate. To learn more about OKC and its surrounding communities, please visit the website of the Greater OKC Chamber of Commerce at <https://www.okcchamber.com>

The University of Oklahoma Health Sciences is an equal opportunity employer that, in compliance with all applicable federal and state laws and regulations, does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, religion, disability, political beliefs, or status as a veteran in any of its policies, practices, or procedures. This includes but is not limited to admissions, employment, financial aid, and educational services.